Eastland Silent On Norman Issue

Won't Explain Why Matter Was Aired

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Eastland (D-Miss) says he cannot divulge why his subcommittee publicly linked Canadian diplomat E. H. Norman with communism rather than handling the matter quietly through diplomatic channels.

But, he added, his Senate Internal Security Subcommittee followed the course it did for "a sound reason." He said there were facts involved which he could not discuss publicly. Eastland told the Senate Friday, however, that Canada "has a very fine and efficient government" and has been "zealous" in protecting itself against communism.

The Canadian government has protested strongly the subcommittee's action making public testimony linking Norman with communism.

Norman Committed Suicide

Norman committed suicide in Cairo April 4 shortly after the subcommittee record was made public. He was Canadian ambassador to Egypt.

The Canadian government said the subcommittee had revived old charges on which Canada had cleared Norman after thorough investigation in 1951.

In Ottawa Friday, Canadian Foreign Secretary Lester Pearson said Norman had associated openly during his university days with persons believed to be Communists.

But Pearson said this was

Movies Taken of Pair Robbing Loan Firm

CLEVELAND (AP) — A man and a woman, "experienced" but they didn't know it but they were performing before a movie camera when they robbed the St. Clair Savings & Loan Co. here of $2,376 Friday.

Cleveland police, who helped set up the "production," hailed the filming as a development in law enforcement comparable to "the start of the two-way radio."

Four years of preparation went into the two-minute movie. The 16-millimeter army surplus gun camera had been installed just the previous day, and final tests had not been made when the man and his pretty blonde accomplice walked into the East Side financial institution, each carrying pistols, and demanding money.

Elsie Rapp, 19-year-old teller stepped on an alarm pedal to start the movie camera grinding and signal police at Central Police Station.

The pictures, slightly fuzzy because of vibration near the camera, shows the gunman, a handkerchief over the lower part of his face, pointing his pistol while the woman walks confidently around the counter to get the money from a cash drawer.

DIES AFTER CAR CRASH

JEFFERSON, Ohio (AP) — Clayton R. Marks, 20, of Ashtabula, was injured fatally early today when the car he was driving left Ohio 531 just west of the Ashtabula city limits and hit a tree. He died shortly after being brought to Ashtabula Hospital.

3 Injured As Cars Crash At Intersection

Two Canfield residents were admitted to Salem City Hospital after the cars they were driving were involved in an auto accident at the intersection of Germantown Road and Garfield Road, two miles northeast of Washingtonville, Friday at 5:50 p.m.

Mrs. Hilda L. Arkwright, 44, is in fair condition with a fractured left elbow, a fracture of the left hand, and contusions of the neck. Charles W. L. Smith, 53, is in fair condition with lacerations of the scalp and left hand.

James Baer, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Baer, of RD 5, Salem, a passenger in Mrs. Arkwright's car, was treated by a physician at Columbiana for contusions of the head.

State patrolmen said the accident occurred when Smith's car, headed north on the Germantown Road, failed to stop at the intersection and collided with Mrs. Arkwright's eastbound car on Garfield Road.

Smith was arrested for failing to stop, patrolmen said.

Greenford Firemen To Get Third Truck

At the present time the department has two large trucks and one small truck.

WILL BUILD BRIDGE

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State Highway Department says construction of a new bridge over the Maumee River in Toledo will begin in 1960 rather than 1964. It will replace the Fassett Street Bridge which was damaged by a freighter during heavy winds a week ago.

Langley Trial Is Nearing End

Mayor Schrank Pleads Innocent

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The trial of embattled Portland District Attorney William Langley, accused of deliberate failure to prosecute members, draws toward its conclusion today.

If convicted of the misdemeanor by the State Circuit Court Jury, the slim 41-year-old chief legal officer of Multnomah County would be removed from office and could be fined.

First Step In Battle

A verdict of innocent would be only the first step in Langley's battle to clear his name. He also is under indictment on six other charges including the felonies of perjury and conspiring to take a bribe and to obstruct justice.

The Langley case is the first to come to trial in the year-long investigation of vice and charges of corruption in Portland. Some 30 others are under indictment on some 50 charges.

Among them is Portland Mayor Terry Schrank who is accused of taking a bribe in 1955 when he was Multnomah County sheriff and of lying about it before a grand jury.

Schrank appeared in another Circuit Court Friday to enter his plea of innocent to both charges. He said he would be ready for trial in about two months.

One of the highlights of Langley's trial Friday occurred when Langley testified that Portland gambler Big Jim Elkins had tried

Five other secret indictments were returned by the grand jury but the defendants have not been served.

Boy Didn't Complain; Doctor Set Wrong Foot

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Tommy Hess, 3, had a broken foot and was taken to the doctor's office. The doctor said it would have to be put in a cast. "This may hurt," he added, motioning the youngster to an operating table.

Tommy gave the matter considerable thought before obliging. But not once did he whimper or complain during the 40-minute operation.

Impressed, the doctor praised him afterward.

The boy looked up. "It's the other foot that hurts," he said. He had deliberately extended the wrong foot, fearful that it would hurt when the cast was put on the broken one.

Chemicals Aid In Cancer Fight

Researchers Report Promising Results

CHICAGO (AP) — New chemical arrows are being fired into human cancers, with some early promising results.

They are the latest among drugs designed to damage or kill cancer cells without harming normal cells to serious degree.

Three such drugs were described to the American Assn. for Cancer Research meeting here this weekend.

Temporary Improvements

One of them, known as 6-Azauracil has brought temporary improvement in one-third of a small group of patients with acute leukemia, or cancer of the blood, said Dr. B. I. Shneider and associates of the National Cancer Institute (NCI) and District of Columbia General Hospital.

In two other patients, the drug reduced the size of solid cancers which had spread from original sites elsewhere in the body.

Another drug, methotrexate, has apparently suppressed a rare type of cancer occurring in the uterus or womb of women after pregnancy, said Dr. Min Chiu Li, Donald B. Spencer, Dr. Roy Hertz and Dr. Herbert A. Lubs of the NCI.

No Tumors For Year

Two women with this kind of cancer, known as choriocarcinoma, have had no detectable signs of tumors for more than a year. Before taking the drug, they had advanced, widespread cancers. How long the improvements may last is not yet known.

A third drug, 5-fluorouracil, now is being tested in humans by University of Wisconsin doctors and scientists after showing marked activity against several types of cancers in rats and mice.

This drug was synthesized by Prof. Charles Heidelberger and Dr. Robert Duschinsky and Ernest Plevin of Hoffmann-La Roche, Inc.

It is designed to stall cell reproduction in cancers by altering the chemical nature of uracil, a substance which cells use for food. Cancer cells are greedier for it than normal cells. Dr. Heidelberger reasoned it could poison cells if a fluorine atom replaced a hydrogen atom in the uracil molecule.

The drugs are examples of a world-wide search for chemicals that can selectively damage or kill cancers. Partial successes, and even failures, contribute to understanding how to build better drugs.

Many scientists think there will have to be various drugs to hit at different types of cancer, rather than hoping for one which would strike at all kinds of cancers with equal effect.

Mayors Of County To Discuss Bingo

A legal clarification on bingo in Columbiana County will be sought by the County Mayors Association at a meeting Monday night at 7:30 in the Lisbon village hall.

Invited to the Monday night meeting of the mayors are Prosecutor William Brokaw, Judges Joel H. Sharp, Raymond Buzzard and Louis Tobin, Sheriff Russell Van Fossan and the chiefs of police from the various communities.

Mayor Wilbur Warren of Lisbon is president of the mayors association and Mayor Dean B. Cranmer of Salem is vice president.

County Board May Act On Merger Plans

LISBON — The Columbiana County School Board will discuss and maybe vote on the consolidation of West Township with United Local school district and the Wayne, Franklin, Yellow Creek and Salineville district merging into another district, at a meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Courthouse.

A large crowd from West Local district is anticipated at the meeting because they claim that most of their residents prefer joining Minerva district which is in Stark County.

This will be the first regular county board meeting for Harry T. Greenwood of Lisbon RD 3 and Freeman Strabley of Salineville who were named as members of the county board of education at a special meeting April 2.

They replace Jack Pozenel of West Point and John Lucas of Salineville RD 1, who resigned because of the attorney general's informal opinion that a person cannot serve on a county and local school board at same time as they were doing.

It is expected that reorganization of the board will be held since Jack Pozenel was vice-president. Ben Weingart of Leetonia RD 2, is president of the board.

Arthur Miller Faces Trial For Contempt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Playwright Arthur Miller, husband of film star Marilyn Monroe, must stand trial May 13 on contempt of Congress charges.

Federal District Judge Charles F. McLaughlin refused Friday to dismiss an indictment stemming from the author's refusal last June to give information to the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Miller declined, on grounds of conscience, to name Communist writers with whom he said he attended several meetings about nine years earlier.

House Group Recommends More Funds

Critics In Congress Blast Action Of Postmaster General

WASHINGTON (AP) — There were no regular mail deliveries today and most post offices were closed for the weekend. But it looked as though service would be returned to normal soon.

Postmaster General Summerfield said late Friday he has "no choice" but to go ahead with service cutbacks even though the House Appropriations Committee has recommended an extra 41 million dollars to maintain normal postal operations through June.

He said the reductions "must go into effect as scheduled so that the department legally operates within the funds actually appropriated."

Mail Delivery Halted

Under the first stage of Summerfield's order, Saturday mail delivery has been halted throughout the country. The only items being delivered are those bearing special delivery stamps. Also, service windows in most of the nation's 38,000 post offices remained closed. The only ones open were rural area fourth class post offices, staffed generally by storekeepers. Newspapers are included in the ban on mail delivery.

Other service curtailments are scheduled to take effect later.

After the committee acted Friday, despite the grumbling of some of its members, Summerfield restated his position that mail service reductions can be canceled only when enough additional money "actually becomes available" — that is, after the bill has cleared Congress and has been signed by President Eisenhower.

Senate To Act Soon

The House is scheduled to consider the committee's recommendation Monday and the Senate is expected to act soon afterward. Thus it appeared likely Summerfield might get his money by the end of next week. Summerfield had asked for 47 million dollars beyond the two billion-dollar Congress voted last year to run his department during this fiscal year.

He said his request for supplemental funds for the next 2 1/2 months grew out of unexpectedly large mail volume, the need to serve spreading residential areas and a postal pay increase.

But his critics in Congress contend the present situation results from overspending of postal appropriations in the first three quarters of the year.

Earlier in the week, Summerfield told a Senate committee that if he got 41 millions, he would cancel all the service cutbacks he could. But Friday, he indicated he is hopeful of getting the full 47 millions.

He said in a statement: "I am hopeful that next week the Congress will provide the department with all the funds it requires so that the mail service may be restored."

Some committee members said the six millions trimmed from Summerfield's request was earmarked for equipment purchases

JESUS LOVED THEM

By PATRICK and GARRISON

PONTIUS PILATE

"Pilate therefore went forth again, and saith unto them, Behold, I bring him forth to you, that ye may know that I find no fault in him." —John XIX:4

Pontius Pilate, who became procurator of Judea under Tiberius Caesar in A.D. 26, was a product of Roman society during the early Empire.

He was military in bearing, tactless, skeptical, arbitrary. Almost from the first day of his arrival in Judea, there existed an implacable hatred between him and the people he ruled.

He regarded the Jews with haughty contempt. From his point of view, they were a superstitious, refractory rabble, wrangling among themselves over religious usages for which he felt only a profound scorn.

Twice before the trial of Jesus, he had been forced to yield to the will of the populace, or risk open rebellion that might cost him his position.

The first time occurred when he brought army standards bearing the likeness of the Roman emperor into Jerusalem, thus profaning the holy city. After five days of uproar and rioting, he removed them.

On another occasion, the Jews forced him to remove a set of Roman votive tablets from Herod's palace, which he occupied in Jerusalem. The people appealed that time directly to Tiberius, who ordered them taken back to Caesarea.

Pilate knew that Jesus was innocent. He had secret spies among the people who had reported almost daily on the Nazarene's activities.

Moreover, there is good reason to believe that Pilate's wife, Claudia Procula, had actually met Jesus, and was one of His secret followers.

During the trial, she sent Pilate a message, warning him to "have nothing to do with that just man."

But, when Pilate saw that he could prevail nothing, but that rather a tumult was made, he took water and washed his hands before the multitude, saying, I am innocent of the blood of this man . . .

In the most critical decision of his career, the "fearless" Roman had again bowed to the shouting, factious, bloodthirsty mob.

Tradition says he never forgot this tragic hour. A few years afterward, in exile, "worned with misfortunes," he killed himself.

LEETONIA — Seven lay leaders will speak at the community Good Friday service which will be held from 1 to 3 p.m. Good Friday in the St. Paul Lutheran Church of Leetonia.

The meditations on "Christ's Messages from the Cross" will be presented by: "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do," Lee McMurrin; "Verily I say unto thee, today thou shalt be with Me in paradise," William Radler.

"Woman, behold thy son, behold thy not her," Mrs. William Woodall; "My God, My God, why hast Thou forsaken Me?" Paul Hayes; "I Thirst," Frank Painter; "It Is Finished," Donald Vignon; and "Father, into Thy hands I commend my spirit," Mrs. Harry Hunt.

Protestant churches in both Washingtonville and Leetonia are cooperating in the community-wide service with choirs of all churches scheduled to sing.

The "Easter Story" will be read by the ministers during the service. As a setting for the musical portion of the service, the choir will sing the spiritual, "Were You There?"

Mrs. Grace Johnson, contralto, will open the Messiah with the solo, "He Was Despised." The tenor solo, "Behold And See If There Be Any Sorrow," will be sung by Byron Griffith. Mrs. Loren D. Early will sing the aria, "He Shall Feed His Flock," which will be followed by "Come Unto Him," sung by Miss Mary Lodge.

Chorus numbers depicting the Suffering Christ and the Compassionate Christ will be sung.

The general tone of the service will then change, and the final portion of the service will recognize the Triumphant Christ. The choir will open with the chorus, "Since By Man Came Death" and will follow with the chorus, "Worthy Is The Lamb."

"I Know That My Redeemer Liveth," will be sung by Mrs. Jean Blockson. The final number will be the "Hallelujah Chorus." The recessional, benediction and the choral response will close the service.

At the mid-week Bible study and prayer hour Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. members will devote time to prayer for the coming revival of Billy Graham in New York City. At the close of the prayer service the Lord's Supper will be observed.

One of the most popular speakers on American lecture platforms this season is a charming woman who once was a famous Hollywood hostess and somehow found her way to an African jungle settlement where she works half the year as an assistant to the medical missionary at his hospital there. She spends the other half of her year lecturing, and the money she is paid goes to support that hospital. She, too, has been inspired by Dr. Schweitzer, and it is his own hospital for which she works.

A FAMOUS AMERICAN economist and business forecaster was inspired to make a bust of Dr. Schweitzer. Although he is only an amateur sculptor, his bust is good enough to have found a place in the Smithsonian Institute, and reproductions of it have been sold by the thousands to raise funds for Dr. Schweitzer's work.

In a New York motion picture theatre, during a heavy snow storm this winter, which left Broadway's movie houses all but empty, two showings of a wonderful film, "Albert Schweitzer," played to full audiences.

Who is this amazing man who has inspired people to this extent? What has he done? What does he have?

Albert Schweitzer is a man who has followed three careers — religious scholar, musician and medical missionary. In each of these he has achieved world fame — as a student of the life of Jesus, as an organist-interpreter of the music of Bach, and as the founder of the hospital at Lambarene in Africa.

A RECENT BOOK by Dr. Marcus Bach of the University of Iowa entitled, "The Circle of Faith," attempts to explain Dr. Schweitzer's secret and that of the other great religious leaders of all faiths in our time. And this is how he does it: "I once asked a priest," Dr. Bach writes, "to tell me the secret of the strength of Fulton Sheen. 'That's easy,' he replied. 'It is all a matter of the disposition he has made of Jesus'."

Then Dr. Bach goes on to apply this secret to the lives of not only Dr. Schweitzer, but also Pope Pius XII, the late Peter Marshall, Frank Laubach and many others.

To the question of what motivates great spiritual leaders, it seems best stated in the simple words of Jesus, "Follow me." For two thousand years some very wonderful men and women have heard these words in their hearts and have indeed followed Him. The paths by which they followed may have been different, but their objectives have been the same — to glorify God and to work His will in the world by helping and serving people.

THIS NEXT WEEK, known as Holy Week throughout the world, commemorates the last days in the earthly life of Jesus and millions will meditate upon His sacrifice. It is heartening to know that there are increasing numbers of men and women who follow in His steps, the steps of love for their fellow men, willingness to sacrifice themselves for the world's redemption, and faith in the goodness of the one God we all worship.

ONE FRIDAY

When we become mired in the routine of life, one day is like any other. This was just another working-day for most of the people in Jerusalem.

Three men died on Calvary Hill. One of them was the Galilean!

Business as usual in Jerusalem. Unless we understand the whole significance of what is happening we pay little attention...

Do you understand what happened that Friday. Do you realize WHO hung on that central Cross. Do you know WHY He died. And FOR WHOM?

There is nothing more necessary in our lives than the deep, personal knowledge of what happened that Friday... and the Sunday following.

Come to Church!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Able Public Servants

Columbiana County officials' pride over a recent commendation by State Auditor James A. Rhodes is justified.

The state auditor, commenting on an audit and examination of Columbiana County offices and commissioners, made by the Bureau of Public Inspection and Supervision, had this to say:

"Seldom does a state examiner find so little to criticize and so much to praise as the audit of the Lisbon Courthouse reveals." He also said the report was one of the finest he had ever read covering county offices.

Columbiana County is fortunate to have such able public servants who hold true to the trust invested in them by the voters and efficiently maintain the offices at the Courthouse. May we add our personal compliments.

Closing The Open Ends

It may have taken 57 billion dollars' worth of expensive experience, but the United States has learned something about foreign aid.

First, it has learned there is no limit to the wealth it can give away to the innumerable poor of this bedraggled planet.

Second, it has learned there is no logic in calling a thing by a wrong name when it is in fact something else.

If foreign aid were to become foreign economic assistance, in the same way that banks assist people doing something constructive, the amount of money it could spend would be limited by what it could spend rationally.

There would be an end to irrational assistance of the kind that looked as if its only purpose was to subsidize an export market for U.S. goods.

If foreign aid were charged to the Pentagon, instead of to the State Department, moreover, it would be considered as part of the defense appropriation which in fact it is.

The United States believes the best security against Communism is positive, not negative—a strong economy in preference to a strong army.

But up to now, foreign-aid pipelines have had open ends. The Committee for Economic Development suggests closing the end of the pipeline called "direct grants" and Secretary Dulles wants to close the end of the one mislabeled "economic aid" which is in fact military aid.

Things are looking up. They might get better in time to save some of the 4.4 billion dollars for foreign aid being requested in the President's 71.8 billion budget.

Behind The Postal Row

More is behind the row between the postmaster general and Congress than one appropriation for one year.

The Post Office Department's position was clearly stated by its Citizens' Advisory Council last February. This group, incidentally, is backing the postmaster general in his clash with Congress over an enlarged appropriation to maintain services up to the end of the current fiscal year on June 30.

Its reasons, as stated in a report last February, are that the department has been saddled by Congress with a variety of costly duties and drains on its financial resources and that Congress, therefore, should let it recover a reasonable proportion of its costs.

There is no such thing as a postal deficit, according to the Citizens' Advisory Council. The council says it makes no sense for the cost of services performed according to acts of Congress to be charged as a deficit. No other federal department is expected to recover even a token share of its costs.

But since the Post Office Department is expected to recover a substantial share of its costs, it should have the right to determine what they should be and also what it should charge for performing them. The Citizens' Advisory Council wants a modern postal policy so the Post Office Department can separate costs to be paid by users of the mails from those to be met by congressional appropriations.

That is what the fight is about.

A dog should be treated as one of the family, says a fancier. Imagine Fido making his own bed.

Sometimes the result of being held up on the way home at night is a big head the next morning.

It's a lot more fun taking a shine to a new car than putting it on an old one.

A Marion, Ill., man, sentenced to jail for forgery, swallowed several keys but none of them fit his cell door.

Soon will come the time when life in the country will agree mightily well with relatives from the city.

Another nice thing about the sermons on the radio each Sunday is that you can listen with your shoes off.

Religion In And On The Job

Days Of Hope

By EUGENE CARR

This season of the year, more than any other, offers promise of hope for the future.

All about us life is stirring, shaken loose from the lethargy of winter, looking ahead to the calm of summer and the fulfillment of fall. The trees and shrubs, the animals of the field, the birds of the air, the winds and rains—all give evidence of it.

These are days of hope. What happens now—today—will determine in a marked degree the scope of life in the weeks and months ahead.

Of course, there is much planning and doing, but there is also much hope, for man knows that he alone will not supply the full measure of things to come. So he turns to hope in this season more than in any other.

HE LOOKS TO IT as a new beginning, a fresh start, unhampered by past experiences. Time is before him, abundant time full of long days of promise. It is no longer too late or too difficult to take up the tasks of the season, for hope is with him.

Yet, so often, man restricts his hopes to material things. He holds them down to what he calls "the practical." He does not let them range throughout his entire life. He thinks of hope only in terms of current wants and needs to bring ease and pleasure to living.

Hope offers us more than that. Actually, it is a more vital ingredient to the growth and development of spiritual life than to material well being. It should be accepted and used as such. It should be allowed to reach out and encompass all of life.

NEXT WEEK brings us Palm Sunday, Good Friday and Easter.

These are days of promise in the spiritual life of man. They are upon us now, offering a new beginning, a fresh start, unhampered by the past. It is not too late or too difficult to take up the challenge of this season, for here, too, hope is with us and time is all ahead.

What can happen during that week, in a spiritual way, can determine the scope of life in our homes, on our jobs, in our communities, throughout the country and throughout the world in the days to come.

But man is not sufficient unto himself; he must hold a brand of hope in the promise of these days equal to the promise itself.

Ike Adopts 'New Bounty' Theory Of Fair Deal

Abraham Lincoln, in discussing public policy on one occasion, told of a dream he had experienced.

As I remember the incident, Mr. Lincoln imagined that he saw two men engaged in a personal encounter. One was dressed in a heavy overcoat. In the course of their wrestling and scuffling, the man with the coat got out of it and the other man worked into it.

This suggests the extent to which the Eisenhower administration, despite all of its protests and promises, has adopted the economic and financial policies of the Roosevelt - Truman regimes.

In the very beginning Mr. Roosevelt was a believer in economy. In the week following his first inauguration he announced a drastic cutting of the budget. But in a year or two the Keynesian philosophy of deficit spending was accepted.

IN ORDER to absolve Mr. Keynes from the mischief that came later, it should be said that the British economist advocated spending, with deficits if necessary, only until normal business prosperity had been achieved.

Then Mr. Keynes would have retrenched in government spending, preserving the credit of the government for the time when the level of business turned down again.

Mr. Roosevelt, however, never stopped spending, because never until the war had he attained anything like full prosperity.

After the war a new philosophy appeared. This ignored the retrenching part of the Keynes formula and advocated a constant rise in spending in order to keep the boom going, even after a fair level of prosperity had been attained.

Ultimately, this purely political course attained the dignity of an economic philosophy.

The simplest statement of this philosophy that I have seen was in one of Adlai Stevenson's "Proposals for a New America," issued on Oct. 28th of last year.

THE DEMOCRATIC candidate had, only a while before, called for a huge expansion of spending for welfare which, he said, "might cost three billion dollars in two or three years and rise to three times that amount in a decade."

This immense federal expenditure would be paid out of what he felicitously called "the new bounty."

That would be an estimated increase in the national product of 15 billion dollars a year.

Thus, to quote Leon Keyserling, Mr. Truman's chief economic wizard, "The size of the federal budget must be measured against the size of the national economy."

This means that the expenditures of government would no longer be determined by a scale of minimum and essential needs but that expenditures would be made because the increasing national product would make it possible to wring more and more from taxpayers.

With that sort of guide to spending, Mr. Keyserling contemptuously regards the Eisenhower budget as quite inadequate.

But on the record, the Eisenhower years have not been niggardly. The amount exacted from taxpayers for federal, state, and local governments was, in 1956, at an all-time high of 27.5 per cent of the net national product.

Even in the war years 1941-1945, the highest percentage was less than that. It was 26.5 per cent in 1943.

WE ARE ALREADY hearing the Keyserling thesis uttered by the President's advisers.

One of them said that this budget is "relatively lower." This is intended to mean that, when measured against the estimated national product, it is lower than others.

But while the sum that the President is asking Congress to appropriate for fiscal 1957 is a firm obligation, the national product from which this is to be taken is only a prediction that the growth envisioned by the President's advisers will come true.

We are not yet sure that our "New Bounty" will produce a balanced budget even this year. We shall not know until June 30.

The Fair Deal overcoat is already occupied by the man who promised to live on 60 billion dollars a year.

We are, it appears, destined to live not according to a prudential concern for a rainy day but on the assumption that fair weather is now assured for all time to come.

We shall spend not just for what we need but according to what we can afford or what some economist guesses we can afford.

Communists' Plot Seen

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Partisanship has been carried to extremes before in America, but it may be doubted whether anything has ever paralleled the spectacle of the Democrats in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee giving an avowed Communist, the editor of "The Daily Worker" in New York, an opportunity to lambaste the government of the United States for its refusal to allow a group of American newsmen to go to Red China.

Simon Gerson, editor of the Communist daily, was born in this country. He said under questioning that he is and has been a Communist and that normally he would not answer the question if he were subpoenaed. But he and the other witnesses were not under oath because they were merely "invited" to testify.

Gerson was also asked about the restrictions on travel imposed by the Soviet government and he naively said he was not an authority on the restrictions imposed in Russia and that, if the Soviet Union doesn't advocate complete freedom of travel for newsmen, they should do so.

Everybody in the news business knows that only a handful of American correspondents are permitted regularly to report the "news" in Moscow and that only brief visits by other newsmen restricted to certain areas are permitted.

WHAT THE PEIPING government did recently was to invite a few American newsmen to go to Red China for 30-day visits. The Communist government will, of course, select the places they can visit and the persons they rent interview. This is not "freedom of the press" but a governmentally regulated scheme for getting propaganda into American publications.

It's part of a program of "exchanging" missions on the so-called "cultural" side. If the American government assents to a press mission, it means that the Peiping government will follow with requests for other "missions" of Americans to visit Red China.

There were other witnesses before the Senate foreign relations committee and it may have been erroneously assumed that such witnesses have been authorized to speak for all the members of the writing profession.

Many letters received by this correspondent from editors in different parts of the country indicate that the so-called spokesmen of the press by no means reflect on this issue the views of all the editors in the country.

Thus, the argument that in 1949 our State Department criticized Red China when the latter banned non-Communist newsmen was offered by one witness as an example of inconsistency on the part of the State Department today.

THIS HAPPENED, of course, before the Korean War — the third largest foreign war in our history. It has not yet been terminated. The situation today, growing out of that Korean War, is far different than it was in 1949 or in the days prior to "recognition" of the Soviet government in 1933.

The problem is not whether passports shall be issued to American newsmen to visit countries whose governments have not been "recognized." It is whether, in what amounts to a "state of war" today, American newsmen shall allow themselves to play the game of the enemy.

The mothers and fathers of the many boys killed or wounded in Korea haven't forgotten that Red China is still at war with us. They feel that the Panmunjom armistice didn't bring peace — indeed the Committees have refused to attend a peace conference and there are many violations of the armistice on record.

Thousands of American troops are, right now on guard at the armistice line.

THE RED CHINA government, moreover, is still holding American citizens as hostages. It seems to be all right in the eyes of some editors in this country for the Red Chinese to attempt to use the American newsmen as an instrument of their foreign policy but it isn't all right for the United States to ask the American newsmen patriotically to co-operate by turning down Red China's "invitations."

Even granting that there is a constitutional right of "freedom of the press" inherent in the travels of newsmen, is it asking too much for the press at times to co-operate with their own government in refraining from the assertion of that right?

It was the constitutional right of the press to print at once the news about the kidnapping of the Weinberger baby but in doing so, was it in the public interest to scare the kidnapper into killing the child?

In a "hot war," the government depends on the patriotism of the press not to publish information useful to the enemy or to play its game. But in a "cold war" it is equally dangerous.

THE PRESSURE to get the State Department to relax its ban on the travel to Red China of American business people, including the press, is being watched all over the Communist world as an entering wedge for admission of Red China into the United Nations and as forecasting the general collapse of the high moral position of the United States in the Far East.

An American editor recently returned from that area told this writer a few days ago that the issue of admitting American newsmen is looked upon there now as a test of whether the American government will soon appease Red China and that this is arousing great anxiety over future trends in Japan, Formosa, the Philippines and Southeast Asia.

Know Your Dog

By TRUMAN TWILL

Ever since the blustery night a few years ago when an angry neighbor burned my ears over the telephone because my Irish setter was guarding a litter of pups under his porch and would not let his family in or out of the house, I have wanted to pass on some advice about identifying dogs.

My Irish setter was the wrong sex to have pups. In the second place, my Irish setter was straddling my legs and gnawing on my wrist while the neighbor was giving me a piece of his mind for not keeping track of my dog.

A story appropriate to springtime has come to me on this subject. This one has love interest. The owner of a spry poodle was confronted by the dog warden's office with a neighbor's accusation that her canine lover-boy had been pestering two lady dogs which were penned up in a backyard enclosure.

In this case, the poodle was the right sex to be pestering, although his owner was observing the rule against letting dogs run at will in town. She did not rule out the possibility of an escape but was skeptical.

Having obtained the name of the complainant, she asked to be alerted the next time the lady dogs had poodleish company. When the call came, both poodle and mistress were snug abed, it being a fine morning for sleeping in. And that took care of allegation about an errant poodle.

The point is that dogs are dogs are dogs etc., especially in springtime. All the dogs of a breed look alike. That Irish setter mother, for example, was a dead ringer for the Irish setter at our house, just as there are thousands of dogs that look like Lassie and Rin-Tin-Tin.

From the olden days of sheep-killing marauders to the modern days of registered aristocrats, dogs have been blamed for the wrongdoing of other dogs that looked like them. Being mute, they cannot make alibis; they must abide tain he is right before he accuses.

This puts the burden on the accuser, who always should be certain he is right before he accuses.

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Mr. Dulles On Vacation

Secretary Dulles is at Duck Island in Lake Ontario for a rest. It will probably make him pretty miserable.

Imagine him being in a situation without a crisis around, no trans-oceanic airplane warning up for him and with the island watchman under orders to permit no problems on the island!

Almost two weeks without hearing "Faster your belt! We are coming into another global headache!"!!!

OUR SECRETARY of state has become fat too accustomed to a major crisis before, and after meals, with two at bedtime, to take easily to a respite. Probably routine each morning: Foster—My goodness! Here it is daylight and me still not up and around. Somebody will answer for this.

Man Servant—Go back to bed. Who needs you?

Foster—Stop fooling. What nations are expecting me today?

Servant—You have no flying date anywhere. Foster—Ike wouldn't let this happen to me. Get me my agenda, brief case and stratospheric costume!

Servant—Take it easy. All you need today will be a bathrobe and some TV programs.

Foster (painfully)—They can't do this to me! Servant—It's your own idea, remember? You came here for a rest. Relax.

Foster—You're crazy. Fetch me my daily list of insurmountable problems and a dish of prunes.

Servant—For ten days at least you are to do nothing. You are not even to look at an atlas or refer to a canal.

Foster—It's against my principle and too sudden. I have been taking on crisis after crisis for years. I can no longer take one or leave it alone. I would have to taper off slowly. I should have London, Cairo, Paris, Budapest and Cyprus on the long-distance phone by this time. But I'll be reasonable. Just get me Cairo.

Servant—Orders are orders. You are to remain cut off, isolated carefree, happy and undisturbed.

FOSTER—Okay, but this can kill me!

MUSICAL COMEDY is taking in strange fields these days. . . . Once upon a time the basic elements were charm, gaiety and a pleasing story but we just saw a new musical on the road with a background of sleazy barrooms, street walkers, barge hands and water front alcoholics. It went from the grimmest interludes into a song cue and from the most sordid situation into a dance.

We left early wondering when somebody would try to make a rollicking musical show out of "Macbeth."

Our latest communique from the Italian front, where there has been heavy warfare over filming "Farewell To Arms," is that the heaviest fighting since the Sicily landings has ceased, with the principals in fair shape but the population suffering from the general disturbance. . . . John Huston, the communique says, will ask reparations from Dave Selznick and there is talk of a Potsdam conference dividing Hemingway into an East Hemingway and a West Hemingway zone, with Huston operating in one and Selznick in another. . . . (Dag Hammarskjöld may yet have to be called in to settle the matter.)

Doug Ford, the recent Masters Golf Tournament winner, was born in West Haven, Conn., a town without a golf course.

Perry Como's amazing success in topping big TV shows, on at the same hour, has one explanation: Class. . . . While the competition is big time and often very amusing, the element of "class" is almost completely missing. . . . Perry's success is the victory of poise, good taste and effortless routines over blood, sweat, tears and general frenzy in the all-out reaching for laughs.

Phone Firm Is Blamed For Strike Violence

WASHINGTON (AP) — A National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) trial examiner says the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. "invited violence" during the 228-day strike that ended Feb. 27.

and fiscal policies. So far, the President's plan has gotten nowhere in Congress.

Byrd said "we are going right down the line with an investigation of interest rates, taxes, debts and other matters," adding:

"So far as I can make it so, it will be strictly nonpolitical."

Republican members of the finance group voiced confidence that any investigation run by Byrd would be "objective."

Cites Right To Probe

Sen. Knowland of California, the Senate Republican leader, said he thinks the Finance Committee has a "perfect right" to investigate in the financial field.

The House some time ago killed a plan for a study in this field by its Banking Committee. This seemed to leave the Senate Finance Committee in command for an inquiry that Byrd said will have an "unlimited field."

Byrd said Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey has agreed to cooperate in the inquiry and will be the first witness when hearings begin in about three weeks.

Among other things, Byrd said the committee will investigate what he called a "tremendous" increase in public and private debts. He said that in four years total debt has grown from about 900 billion dollars to around 900 billion dollars. Of this, he said, almost two-thirds represents private debt.

Byrd said the surge in installment buying and its effect on the economy also will be investigated.

ROAD HEARING SET

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Plans to relocate about four miles of Ohio 13 in Richland County will be aired at a public hearing Wednesday, April 24, at Mansfield.

The Ohio Department of Highways proposes to relocate the road from Bellville to where Ohio 13 crosses Hanley Road. Most of the new road would be limited access.

CANADIAN IS SLAIN

OTTAWA (AP) — Albert Edward Lucien Cannon, 39-year-old Canadian member of the international trade supervisory teams in Indo-China, has been found dead of knife wounds in Saigon, the Foreign Ministry said today. A spokesman said details were not available.

day recommended dismissal of violence charges brought by the company against the Communications Workers of America (CWA). He blamed the company for the violence.

He said "comparative peace existed" until the company "brought in strangers who stood around job sites without working—an invitation to violence."

Company President C. E. Williams said the company has not received a copy of the report.

"If, however, the contents of the report are as suggested by press releases, the company will promptly file exceptions with the NLRB prior to the final determination by that body on the basis that the findings and recommendation by that body on the basis that the findings and recommendations of Examiner Whittemore are not substantiated by the record," Williams said.

Whittemore said the company and union had 14 years of peaceful contractual relations until July 1956 when General Telephone Co. of Ohio took over control of Ohio Consolidated.

The examiner said Ohio Consolidated had "shown its contempt for the right of its employees to engage in concerted activities" in three ways:

"(A) Threatening its employees with physical violence, (B) conspiring with hired 'investigators' to engage in violence against certain strike leaders, and (C) engaging in actual physical violence against striking employees."

Ohio Consolidated charged, with support from the NLRB's General Counsel, that the union instigated violence to coerce or frighten company employees to remain on strike.

The NLRB also has been asked to determine whether supervisory employees should be members of the union.

The contract which ended the long and bitter strike excluded a union shop clause, which the union sought to retain from old contracts. The contract granted wage raises to some employees.

Since the strike's end, complete service still has not been completely restored to the Portsmouth-New Boston-Scioto area. Hundreds of cables were sliced during the strike, which involved 22 counties.

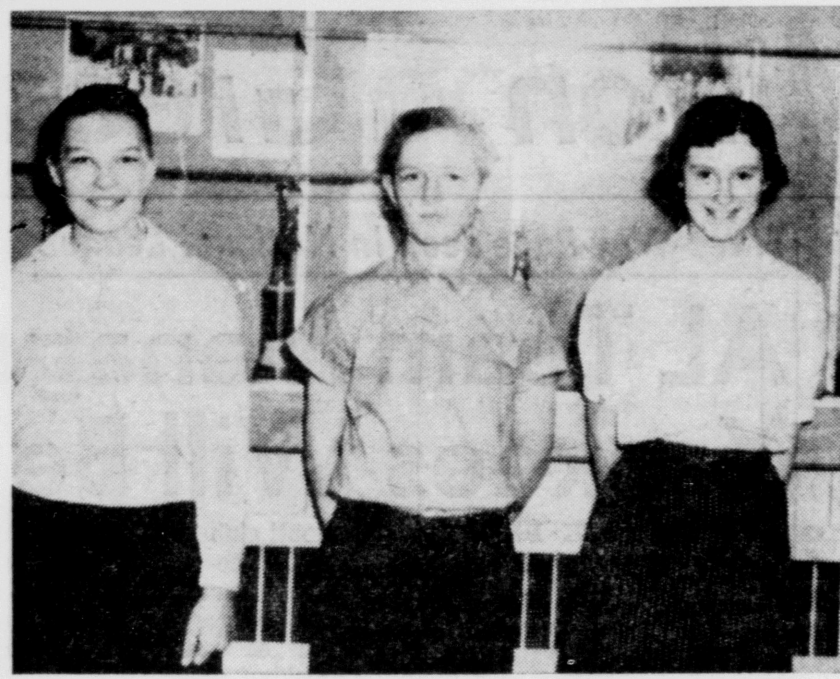

The NLRB held hearings on the charges in Portsmouth between Dec. 11 and Jan. 29. Whittemore said in his recommendation that only five of 27 incidents of violence described by the company occurred as alleged.

In one case, Whittemore found union leaders responsible for overturning a car operated by two telephone supervisors from General Telephone Co., "whether they actually participated in the overturning or not."

known to the Canadian government when Norman was employed by the foreign office and that there never was any doubt about Norman's loyalty or integrity.

Made Youthful Mistakes

Friday night, Pearson told a Liberal Party meeting Norman made youthful mistakes, but "learned he... had been following a false ideology," he added:

"Are we to condemn a young Canadian all his life because of this?"

"It is intolerable," Pearson continued, "when an agency of any government gets information of this type, especially of a high official, and does not send it to the government concerned for investigation."

In an apparent reference to the subcommittee, Pearson said it was the work of "two or three men and the U. S. government as a whole is just as concerned as we are."

Eastland said the subcommittee's information about Norman was not confined to his student days. He told the Senate "the cold facts are that from 1951 until this time his name has continued to crop up in investigations we have conducted."

Record Speaks For Itself

"I am not going to say anything about a man who has passed on," the senator added. "The record speaks for itself."

Asked by Sen. Neuberger (D-Ore) if the subcommittee knew the Canadian government had made security checks of Norman and cleared him, Eastland said, "I don't think these discussions will help our relations with our neighbor to the North."

Then Eastland added: "I do know that a doctor — a professor — testified that this man was a member of a Communist cell and that in the investigation in Canada he (the witness) had never been contacted."

Eastland apparently was referring to Dr. Karl A. Wittfogel, a Columbia University professor who testified in 1951 at a public inquiry by the subcommittee into the Institute of Pacific Relations.

which they contended could be "deferred or eliminated."

Criticism of Summerfield continued undiminished on Capital Hill.

A House Appropriations Subcommittee — which had recommended only 17 millions more for postal operations this fiscal year — issued a report saying the nation's vital postal service had been "callously jeopardized by injudicious action."

Rep. Gary (D-Va.), the subcommittee chairman, accused Summerfield of indulging in "browbeating threats and tactics."

Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-SC), chairman of the Senate Post Office Committee, said Summerfield is "assuming dictatorial powers." He called for an investigation.

Sen. McNamara (D-Mich.) assailed Summerfield in similar terms and he, too, called for a probe of what he termed "capricious acts" of the postal chief.

The cutbacks started today also include reduction of Saturday mail box pickups to limited Sunday schedules.

On Monday, post office window hours will be limited to 8½ hours a day Mondays through Fridays, and not more than two mail deliveries a day will be made in downtown business areas.

On April 29, the department is scheduled to stop handling third class mail, except for medical shipments, and to halt issuance of money orders in first and second class offices, those serving the larger communities.

A trade group has filed a court suit seeking to block the embargo on third class mail.

The department estimates at least 20,000 postal workers will be affected, by layoffs or curtailment of hours.

In Washington, Postmaster Roy North announced he will deliver Saturday and Sunday mail, as usual, to the White House and a few other "top priority" government agencies, including the Pentagon.

The regional postal operating office here authorized the Baltimore, Md., Internal Revenue Field Bureau to send trucks to the post office to pick up its mail over the weekend, since Monday is the deadline for filing federal income tax returns.

An Internal Revenue Service spokesman, noting the income tax-postal service jam, said: "We have never quibbled if the return carried a postmark of midnight of the 15th—nor in fact if it is a day or two late."

"And we certainly aren't going to quibble about returns that may be held up by this postal development."

Tiger Jones Wins Over Chico Vejar

By BOB POWELL

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Ralph (Tiger) Jones, a tireless competitor from Yonkers, N.Y., has joined the contingent of aspiring middleweights awaiting the outcome of the May 1 title bout between challenger Sugar Ray Robinson and champion Gene Fullmer.

Jones' bid came after his split 10-round decision over Chico Vejar of Stamford, Conn., in their nationally televised fight Friday.

Jones was declared the winner over the infuriated Vejar on two judges' cards. Referee Ted Martin called the fight a draw after giving each fighter five rounds and a similar number of points.

Judge Harold Barnes gave Vejar four rounds and six to Jones. Jones was a 5-4-1 victor on Judge Richard Poy's ticket. The Associated Press gave it to Jones 6-3-1.

Jones said after the fight that he had loafed after hurting his opponent several times. He said he hoped he would be considered for a title match with the Fullmer-Robinson winner.

Vejar said he was stunned by the decision.

"I won that fight, I won that fight," he repeated in his dressing room. "He never hurt me."

The victory before 2,459 (gross gate $7,589) gave Jones a record of 44 wins in 64 fights. He has lost 17 and drawn three times. It was Vejar's ninth setback in 63 matches. His record includes 72 wins and two draws. Vejar weighed 160, Jones 156.

Beaver Creek Club Plans Spring Cleanup

At the regular April meeting of the Beaver Creek Sportsman Club at Washingtonville, President Earl Kyser gave a report of the recommendations made by county sportsmen recently at the annual fish and game hearings at New Waterford.

The most important was to support the growing movement to include quail on the game bird list and hold a short experimental open season.

The members decided that, weather permitting, Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m. would be set as "spring cleanup day" for the club grounds. All available members are urged to help clear the trap and range area.

Once again the club plans to hold competitive team target casting meets at the lake site. All members interested in participating should sign up with chairman Wilfred Tunnat as early as possible. Other area clubs interested in holding inter-club matches are also asked to contact the chairman.

Plans were made for a club party Saturday, May 18, and Canadian fishing movies were shown.

4 PIRATES SIDELINED

CHARLESTON, W. Va., (AP) — Manager Bobby Bragan of the Pittsburgh Pirates had four players sidelined temporarily by injuries as the Pirates came here today to wind up their exhibition season with week-end games with the Detroit Tigers.

Outfielder Bob Clemente has been sent on to Pittsburgh for treatment of a back injury.

Pitcher Vernon Law suffered a pulled groin muscle Friday as the Tigers defeated the Pirates 9-2 at Charlotte, N. C. Pitcher Ronnie Kline is being treated for a knee injury and utility infielder Johnny O'Brien has a leg injury.

ABC Assault Continuing

24th Score Over 3,000 Is Reported

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — The record-breaking assault is continuing in the American Bowling Congress tournament.

The 24th score over 3,000 was posted Friday night in the open team division and the all-events record was smashed earlier. The previous record for 3,000 games in one tournament was 17.

The Coca Colas of Detroit turned the trick Friday night with a 3015. The same team took 16th place in last year's tournament with 2921.

Mike Testa led the Detroit team with 184-243-217-644. Joe Paulus anchored with 640.

Jim Spalding of Louisville, Ky., cracked the all-time ABC all-events record with a sparkling nine game total of 2,038. The old mark of 2,070 was set by Max Stein of Belleville, Ill., in 1937.

Spalding fired a 720 in the doubles and 662 in the singles section Friday to add to the 706 he rolled in the team event Thursday night.

Spalding ousted Norm Abrams of St. Paul, Minn., who took a short-lived lead Wednesday with 2,007.

Bob Allen of Yonkers, N.Y., smashed into the singles lead with a towering 729 series.

He rolled a mighty 298 in his final game, second best single game of the tournament. Stan Williams of Dayton, Ohio, shot a 299 game earlier.

Allen, 28, a southpaw, opened with games of 235 and 196. He tossed 11 straight strikes in the finale, only to miss the 4 and 7 pins in his final roll.

Indians Drop 8-1 Decision To Giants

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Don Mossi, lefthanded relief artist for the Cleveland Indians, gets one of his rare starting opportunities here today as the Tribe and New York Giants play the last game of their exhibition series.

His opponent will be Curt Barclay, a young right-hander who has been tough on the Indians.

Cleveland winds up the exhibition season tomorrow in Milwaukee against the Braves. Early Wynn, veteran right-hander, is scheduled to start for the Tribe.

Wynn returned to action Thursday night after being out since March 17 with a sore hip. He allowed only one hit in a five-inning assignment against the Indians in Miami, Fla.

The Indians were held to five hits by Ruben Gomez Friday as they dropped an 8-1 decision to the Giants at Jacksonville, Fla.

The victory moved the Giants to within one game of the Indians in their spring series. The Tribe now holds a 10-9 edge.

Celtics, Hawks Play Final Game Today

BOSTON (AP) — The favored Boston Celtics, still blasting officals, and the Cinderella St. Louis Hawks today squared off to settle the playoff championship of the National Basketball Assn.

The clubs stood 3-3 in the best-of-seven series at the start of the playoff clash at Boston Garden.

Boston players and Coach Red Auerbach who complained about the officiating after two home victories, still were grumbling over the calls in Thursday's 96-94 loss in St. Louis when the Hawks rallied from the brink of elimination to tie the competition.

Some of the Celtics pointed out that St. Louis averaged six more free throw tries than Boston in the first six meetings.

St. Louis must halt the hot scoring hand of veteran backcourt ace Bill Sharman and the backboard work of Bill Russell.

"We have nothing to lose and everything to gain, because nobody figured we would go this far against the Celtics," said St. Louis Coach Alex Hannum. His club came from nowhere to win the Western Division title and battle Boston on even terms.

Yanks, Bums Meet Today at Ebbets Field

By ED CORRIGAN

Associated Press Sports Writer

It promises to be just like old times at Ebbets Field today. The Brooklyn Dodgers and the New York Yankees, no less, the same two teams that fought it out in the World Series the past two years, were back for their annual spring series.

The Yanks are presenting practically the same cast that licked the Brooks in the Series last fall. The only newcomer is young Tony Kubek, who seems to have won the left field job.

In fact, possibly the most interesting aspect of this series will be the ups and-or downs of Kubek. A week ago, he was a full-fledged "phenom." However, he now has been "de-phenomed" in view of his 1 for 15 before being benched in Friday's 11-10 loss to Washington in the capital.

The Brooks, too, will present the same old . . . pardon, familiar faces. They, too, have one newcomer, one Gino Cimoli, like Kubek, a left fielder. Cimoli has been the steadiest hitter on the club in training and has grabbed the job hands down.

The starting pitchers are ancient Sal (The Barber) Maglie for the Brooks and Art Ditmar, one of the refugees from the Kansas City A's, for the Yanks.

The Yanks, continued their mediocre exhibition showing against the lowly Senators, who won it in the ninth on a single by Lyle Luttrell.

Tommy Byrne was the loser, but the most disturbing part of the proceeding was the ineffectiveness of Don (Perfect Game) Larsen, who was the victim of a seven-run uprising in the fifth.

Only four other games were played Friday. The Detroit Tigers slugged the Pittsburgh Pirates, 9-2, at Charlotte, N.C.; the Boston Red Sox turned back the Philadelphia Phillies, 5-2, at Richmond; the New York Giants vanquished the Cleveland Indians, 8-1, at Jacksonville, Fla., and the Baltimore Orioles edged the Cincinnati Redlegs, 3-2, at Baltimore.

The Tigers blasted four Pittsburgh pitchers for 16 hits to wrap up their first victory in three meetings with the Buccos.

Granny Hamner, who is trying to make a comeback as a pitcher, was the victim of three of the five Red Sox' hits in his two-inning tenure.

Hank Sauer, with two homers, and rookie catcher Vlamy Thomas each knocked in three runs for the Giants against the Indians.

The Orioles had to come from behind a 2-0 count to whip the Redlegs.

Julius Boros Leads In Greensboro Open

By KEN ALYTA

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP) — If Julius Boros doesn't get too far ahead of the field in today's third round of the $15,000 Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament, a rousing fourth round finish may be coming up Sunday.

The 37-year-old Connecticut native who now plays out of Southern Pines, N.C., held a four-stroke lead over eight rivals as play began today. He posted a five under par 5 in the second round for a 135 total to replace first day leader Doug Ford of Mahopac, N.Y.

The 139 second-place tie included, in addition to Ford: Marty Furgol, Lemont, Ill.; Jim Feree, Winston-Salem, N. C.; Gardner Dickinson Jr., Panama City Beach, Fla.; Howie Johnson, Houston; Al Bessellink, Grossinger's, N.Y., and the youthful South African pros, Gary Player and Trevor Wilkes.

In contention at 140 were Sam Snead, Stan Leonard of Vancouver, British Columbia, and Mike Souchak, Grossinger's. The rest were seven shots or more off the pace as the field was cut to 61 pros at 105 or under and 10 amateurs at 152 or under.

Ideal weather saw 11 players crack par 70.

Three-Way Race Seen In National League

AL Team Managers Deny Yankees Will Be 'Shoo-In'

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — American League managers say "the Yankees are no shoo-in" and National League skipper expect Brooklyn, Milwaukee and Cincinnati to stage another tight three-team race. That is the gist of a pre-season roundup of managerial opinion by the Associated Press.

The "no shoo-in" quotes come from Kerby Farrell of Cleveland, Al Lopez of Chicago and Paul Richards of Baltimore. Richards added: "Remember, the Yankees are not supermen by any means."

Casey Stengel expects his Yankees to win but he avoids all talk of a runaway.

"Some clubs, especially Chicago and Detroit will be stronger than they write and it should be a good race," said Stengel. "Cleveland's still got that good pitching, too."

Jack Tighe, whose Detroit Tigers generally are expected to make a run at the Yanks, said he was "optimistic about our chances in spite of our poor record in Florida. Our pitching has improved, and the attitude of our players is excellent."

Farrell said "On the basis of what I've read in the papers, I have to say the Yanks are the team to beat with the Tigers and White Sox plenty tough too."

Lopez expects his White Sox to "surprise a lot of people." He calls Billy Pierce, Jack Harshman and Dick Donovan all potential 20-game winners.

"We have a real good chance if our young guys like Jim Landis in the outfield, Earl Battey behind the plate and Bubba Phillips at third come through," said Lopez.

Mike Higgins wouldn't predict Boston's finish but said, "I think our front line pitching will be good. The outfield is set and we'll have good power at first with Mickey Vernon and Dick Gernert."

Chuck Dresen of Washington comes right out and predicts a Yankee victory. As for Washington, those who pick us to finish last might get fooled. We're going to win more games than we did last year."

Kansas City is sized up as having "improved defense, the ability to make runs and improved pitching" by Manager Lou Boudreau who added "We should finish up in sixth place."

Richards said "three or four clubs can give the Yanks a battle. They're no shoo-in. Boston rates an outside chance. The Orioles will be in there battling with a chance to win every game."

Over in the National League, Walter Alton of the Dodgers confidently forecast, "since the other fellows are picking themselves to win, I see no reason why I shouldn't pick the Dodgers."

Fred Haney played it a bit cautious without making an outright pick of his Milwaukee Braves.

"Naturally, I am very optimistic about our chances," he said. "Our pitching was tops last year and should be even stronger. I believe our infield and outfield are as sound as ever with Joe Adcock just reaching his peak."

Birdie Tebbetts said his Cincinnati club "has as good a chance to win the pennant as any other club. A great deal depends on the kind of start we make and the kind of starts Milwaukee and Brooklyn make."

Brooklyn support comes from the lower echelon.

Bob Scheffing, new boss of the Chicago Cubs, said "I think it will be a repeat of last season with Brooklyn, Milwaukee and Cincinnati finishing one-two-three. As for the Cubs we'll go as far as our young pitchers will carry us."

Billy Rigney of the New York Giants finds Brooklyn "the team to beat" but he predicts a six-way scramble for the first division.

Freddie Hutchinson of St. Louis predicts it will be Milwaukee, Brooklyn, St. Louis and Cincinnati in the first division.

Mayo Smith said his Phillies feature the "fresh outlook" with nine promising rookies who should give the team speed and a tighter defense to back up its fine pitching staff.

From Bobby Bragan of Pittsburgh comes assurance that his Pirates have improved so much that "we will finish fifth in the National League."

I have wonderful news! Dorothy Gray scientists have developed a most effective treatment to help clear troubled skin. It's the new MEDICATED SCRUB SET. Works wonders in 3 steps:

1. Lather on Medicated Cream Soap. Made with Oatmeal, it rids out every trace of clogging dust, hardened oils and stale make-up. And it helps force out blackheads.
2. Pat on cooling, bracing Medicated Refining Lotion. It gets at bacteria. Helps reduce enlarged pores. Refines and smooths your skin.
3. Let Medicated Blemish Cream work while you sleep to soothe, heal, reward you with a softer, clearer complexion.

I promise fine results if you use MEDICATED SCRUB SET daily.

Boy Shoplifter Sent To Boarding School

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Juvenile Referee Marion Sherer Friday sent a 16-year-old admitted shoplifter to a boarding school rather than the Boy's Industrial School after the youth explained the operation of his "business."

He said three or four Ohio State University students would put in "orders" with him for items they needed and he would steal them from downtown stores. Police said the boy sold the items and took the money to his mother.

The youth said the Ohio State students were regular customers. "This is one boy who needs more help than punishment," Mrs. Sherer said.

Bundy Murder Trial Postponed Indefinitely

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—The murder trial of Harry Dale Bundy, 38, which was tentatively set for May 20, has been postponed indefinitely. Prosecutor Norman J. Putnam said Bundy, who was indicted on two first degree murder charges in connection with the robbery-slaying of two grocers near Uniontown Nov. 23, 1956, would not be tried until Russell McCoy, 22, of Zanesville, could appear in court.

McCoy, who faces trial on two similar indictments, implicated Bundy in the crime and is expected to be the state's chief witness against him.

McCoy has been sent to Lima State Hospital for a 30-day mental examination.

CLEVELANDER SLAIN

CLEVELAND (AP)—A man police identified as Tommy Boyce, 45, a figure in the numbers racket, was shot to death late Friday night. No arrests were made immediately.

Stray Dogs, Refuse Dumping Won't Be Tolerated, Warning

Complaints of dogs running at large and people dumping trash along Perry Township Roads brought a stern warning today from Township Constable John Herman.

Herman said owners must keep their pets tied, in a kennel or indoors from sundown to sunup, and that during the day the dogs must be kept on the owner's property or under the owner's control.

Many complaints about dogs causing damages to lawns and flower beds have been made to him, Herman said.

The constable said people have also complained to him about the dumping of garbage and refuse along roadsides and on private property. He urged people who are hauling trash to the city dump to make sure the refuse is covered or tied down so it will not blow away.

Herman said persons who allow their dogs to run loose in the township or who throw refuse along the highway will be arrested and prosecuted.

Violators are subject to fines of up to $50 and 30 days' imprisonment or both, he said.

Home Economic Groups Will Have Programs

LISBON — A program on "more and better foods for less costs" will be presented at the meeting of the Fairfield Township Home Demonstration Group Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. James Cooper who lives at the intersection of Fairfield School Road and Rt. 558.

A similar program will be presented at the meeting of the Unity Township Home Demonstration Group Thursday from 1 to 3 p.m. at the home of Mrs. R. H. Buckner's on Shady Hill Road off Rt. 14.

Baptist Youth To See Easter Motion Picture

The movie is being presented by the witness committee, with Culley Livingston in charge. Games and devotions will be a part of the program.

FACES HEAVY PENALTY

IRONTON, Ohio (AP)—Walter M. Allen, 26, Huntington, W. Va., faces a year in prison and $1,200 in fines plus costs after pleading guilty Friday in South Point Mayor D. R. Pemberton's court in the traffic death of Floyd Freeman, 44, Rt. 3, Ironton.

Allen pleaded guilty to charges of driving while intoxicated, hit-skip, and involuntary manslaughter. He was captured Thursday night at a highway patrol roadblock shortly after his car struck Freeman on U. S. 52 west of South Point.

Dayton Minus Newspapers Again Today

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Dayton faced another day without newspapers today as mechanical workers continued to honor a picket line set up by 25 striking janitors and maids of a Teamsters local.

The morning Journal Herald failed to publish for the second day and the afternoon Daily News did not publish its Saturday editions.

Management of the two papers said some mechanical unions refused "to honor their work contracts with the newspapers, despite orders from their International headquarters to do so and warning that failure to do so would be a breach of that contract."

Dwight Young, editor and publisher of the Journal Herald, said his paper will not publish again until the mechanical workers cross the Teamsters picket line.

The Dayton Newspapers, Inc., owner of the two papers, said mechanical unions have been advised "that their members would be laid off until further notice because of lack of work." Members of news departments are working with radio and television stations to disseminate news.

Robert A. Wolfe, executive vice president and general manager of the publishing firm, said status of the janitors' strike remained the same as it was when Teamsters Local 176 "broke off negotiations and imposed the picket line."

Wolfe said the company had offered pay increases ranging from 30 cents to 50 cents an hour with a 36-cent an hour average. He said the company had offered to submit the wage issue to arbitration.

The union rejected the offer and demanded increases of from 50 to 70 cents an hour retroactive to Feb. 12 when the old contract expired. Janitors and maintenance men receive a minimum of $1 an hour.

John E. Breibenbach, president of the Central Labor Union, said the Teamsters had not sought his organization's sanction for the strike, a standard procedure for all strikes in the area.

Redmon Convicted Of Manslaughter

CINCINNATI (AP)—A Criminal Court jury has convicted 29-year-old Arthur Lee Redmon of first degree manslaughter in an apartment house fire in which eight died.

The conviction carries a sentence of 1-20 years. The jury reported it balloted three times in the five hours it deliberated before deciding Redmon started the fire, but did not intend to kill.

Redmon was indicted on a first-degree murder charge.

ROBBERS GET $900

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Two men, one carrying a pistol, tied up clerk Teresa LaNew in a Community Savings & Loan Assn. office Thursday and stole $900 from cash drawers.

AUTO INSURANCE RATES INCREASE

Figures recently released by various State Insurance Departments show "very serious" losses by auto liability insurance companies.

Rate increases have been approved in many States or are being requested. For example, California increased Bodily Injury coverage 77.3%, Iowa 62.9%, Indiana 53.9%, Ohio's losses in 1956 required a 35% increase.

These increases are naturally due to the numerous accidents occurring on our crowded highways.

Therefore, the only way rate increases can be stopped is safer driving habits.

If you are a safe and sober driver, why not insure with a company that only writes preferred risks and save as much as 15% on your auto insurance?
